Introductory Comments by the Clerk of Court

Welcome to the United States Court of Federal Claims.

Representing yourself in a lawsuit can be complicated, time consuming, and costly. This guide is intended to assist pro se plaintiffs in filing their cases and in understanding the rules and procedures for the U.S. Court of Federal Claims. Please note, however, this guide is not intended to be used as a surrogate for the court's rules. Failure to comply with court rules and procedures can mean losing your case. We encourage you not only to read this guide but also to visit the court's website at www.uscfc.uscourts.gov for additional information and resources.

After reading this guide, if you still have questions about filing a case in this court, please contact the clerk's office at (202) 357-6406. Keep in mind that clerk's office staff can help you with court procedures, but they cannot give you any legal advice. For example, they cannot help you decide whether to file a case in this court or, once filed, what to do in your case. They also cannot explain a law or advise you on what words to use in your court documents.

We welcome any comments or suggestions for improving this guide. Please forward your comments to: Office of the Clerk of Court, U.S. Court of Federal Claims, 717 Madison Place, NW, Washington, DC 20439.

Section 1

Before You File Your Case

The U.S. Court of Federal Claims has limited, nationwide jurisdiction and hears monetary claims against the United States Government. It is not a district court; the court has its own separate jurisdiction, rules, and procedures. This court does not hold jury trials. Before you file your case in the U.S. Court of Federal Claims, you should ask yourself the following questions:

Are you in the right court?

You should make sure that you are filing your case with the correct court. If the court lacks jurisdiction over your claim, your claim will be dismissed. This can be especially important if your claim has a “statute of limitations.” Filing in the wrong court might affect whether or not your claim is filed prior to the deadline for doing so.

- Types of cases filed in this court include:
 - Federal tax disputes
 - Taking of private property
 - Military and civilian pay
 - Breaches of contracts involving the federal government
 - Patent and copyright infringement by the federal government
 - Bid protests
 - Vaccine injuries¹ (cases filed under the National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program)

Is your complaint timely?

A statute of limitations is the period of time set by law within which a claim must be filed. This period of time ordinarily begins when the injury occurs or when a right has been violated. If you fail to file your complaint within the time allotted by the statute, your case will be dismissed.

NOTE: The clerk’s office is unable to answer specific questions about your statute of limitations. It is your responsibility to keep track of and meet your deadlines.

¹ The information in this guide covers general jurisdiction complaints filed against the United States in the U.S. Court of Federal Claims. If you wish to obtain information about vaccine claims in this court, you should contact the clerk’s office and request a copy of the Guidelines for Practice Under the National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program.

Do you expect a trial by jury?

If you are filing a case with the intention that it will be heard before a jury of your peers, you will not find it at this court. While the U.S. Court of Federal Claims is a trial court, cases are heard and decided by only one assigned judge. Any requests for trial by jury or by a panel of judges cannot be granted.

Additional information for prisoner-plaintiffs to consider:

- A prisoner-plaintiff wishing to proceed without prepayment of the required filing fees may file an Application to Proceed In Forma Pauperis (IFP).
 - Along with the IFP application, a prisoner must also submit a certified copy of their trust fund account statement for the 6-month period immediately preceding the filing of the complaint. In addition, the assigned judge may require that you file a Prisoner Authorization Form (see A10).
 - Failure to provide this information may result in the dismissal of your case.
- Upon approval of your IFP application, a prisoner-plaintiff must pay an “initial partial filing fee” and subsequent partial payments thereafter until the filing fee is paid in full pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b).

PLEASE NOTE: All prisoner-plaintiffs are obligated to pay the filing fee even if their complaint is ultimately dismissed for lack of subject-matter jurisdiction. Therefore, it is important to review this court’s jurisdictional requirements prior to filing a complaint.

★ Three Strikes Rule: Prisoner-plaintiffs who, while incarcerated, have filed three or more complaints in federal court that were dismissed for frivolousness, maliciousness, or failure to state a claim cannot proceed in forma pauperis and must prepay the required filing fee, unless the prisoner-plaintiff meets a statutory exception under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g).

Section 2

Start to Finish: The Civil Case Process

How to File Your Complaint

Fig. 1 is an image of the model pro se complaint form that is provided in the appendix of this guide (see A5-A7). If you require additional space to answer a particular question, please finish your response on additional paper, making sure that each answer is properly numbered.

-OR-

If you do not wish to use the provided pro se complaint form, please use the following information to help you draft your complaint.

Step 1-Format Your Complaint

Complaints may be typed or handwritten. If handwritten, the writing must be legible. Use Fig. 1 as a model to ensure compliance with the format requirements of the U.S. Court of Federal Claims.

- Court Title: “The United States Court of Federal Claims” must be written at the top of your complaint, as well as on all future filings.
- Case Number & Judge: Leave this area blank. Once your case has been opened, the court will inform you of your case number and judge assignment by mail. You must include the case number and judge’s name on all future filings.
- Title of Document: You must indicate what you are filing by including a title at the beginning of the document.

Step 2-Draft Your Complaint

Your complaint should be a summary of why you are filing your case in the U.S. Court of Federal Claims, why this court has legal jurisdiction over your case, the statement of facts, and the relief that you are requesting. The following topics should be covered in your complaint:

- Jurisdiction: Explain why the U.S. Court of Federal Claims has jurisdiction over your case.
- Parties: Identify the parties in your case.

Fig. 1

COMPLAINT

Your complaint must be clearly handwritten or typewritten, and you must sign and declare under penalty of perjury that the facts are correct. If you need additional space, you may use another blank page.

If you intend to proceed without the prepayment of filing fees (in forma pauperis (IFP)), pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915, you must file along with your complaint an application to proceed IFP.

1. JURISDICTION. State the grounds for filing this case in the Court of Federal Claims. (Please refer to the Guide for Self-Representation if you are unclear about the kinds of cases heard in this court. The United States Court of Federal Claims has jurisdiction to hear only those types of cases specified in 28 U.S.C. §§ 1346, 1491-92, 1494-1503, 1505, 1507.)

- REMEMBER: In this court, the defendant is always the United States, which includes ALL federal agencies.
- Statement of Facts: Explain the relevant facts of your case.
- Claims: List your legal claims.
 - This is the section in which you allege that the defendant violated laws or legal obligations that entitle you to monetary relief. You must identify the source of that law or legal obligation.
- Request for Relief: Explain what you would like the court to do.
- Exhibits: If you choose to include exhibits, they should be numbered in sequential order.

Step 3-Submit Your Complaint

Once you have drafted your complaint, you must submit the documents to the clerk’s office either by mail or in person. Fig. 2 provides a quick description of the required forms. An initial filing checklist can also be found on page 10.

If you wish to file your complaint by hand, deliver your documents to the clerk’s office in Room 103 of the Howard T. Markey National Courts Building at 717 Madison Place, NW, which is across from the White House on the east side of Lafayette Park. If you prefer to submit your complaint (and other documents) by mail, all documents should be mailed to:

Clerk of Court
U.S. Court of Federal Claims
717 Madison Place, NW
Washington, DC 20439

Along with your complaint, you must submit a Civil Cover Sheet. This form is available on the court’s website at www.uscfc.uscourts.gov as well as in the appendix of this guide (see A3).

When filing your complaint, you must also include either the filing fee (see Schedule of Fees on page 11) or an Application to Proceed In Forma Pauperis (IFP). This form is available on the court’s website as well as in the appendix of this guide (see A8-A9). Only those who cannot afford the filing fee should apply for IFP status. If your IFP application is denied, you must promptly pay the filing fee or your case will be dismissed.

Forms To Submit With Your Complaint

All of these forms are included in the appendix of this guide as well as on the court’s website.

- Complaint: 1 copy with original signature
- Cover Sheet: a form that asks you questions about the nature of your case.
(Required: 1 original)
- Required Filing Fee: (See Schedule of Fees on page 11)

- OR -

- In Forma Pauperis* Application: a request to waive prepayment of the filing fee. This form must be submitted with your complaint and is only for those who cannot afford the fee. You will answer questions about your income and employment status that will help the court make its decision to grant or deny the application.
(Required: 1 original)

PLEASE NOTE: Clerk’s office staff cannot help you write your complaint or tell you how to complete the required forms.

The Civil Case Process

Please note that this flowchart is a generic example of how your case may proceed. Individual cases may vary. Also note that the court may issue a decision at any time and deadlines may be extended or altered by court order.

Section 3

Clerk's Office: How Can We Help?

WE ARE HAPPY TO HELP YOU IF WE CAN. WE ARE NOT, HOWEVER, PERMITTED TO PROVIDE LEGAL ADVICE AND WE MUST PROVIDE THE SAME INFORMATION TO EVERYONE.

Below are some examples of things that clerk's office staff can and cannot do for you.

We can explain and answer questions about how the court works.

We can give you general information about court rules, procedures, and practices.

We can provide court schedules.

We can provide you with information about your particular case.

We can provide you with available court forms and instructions.

We can answer questions about publicly available court deadlines.

We cannot tell you whether or not you should file a case in this court.

We cannot give you an opinion about what will happen if you bring your case to court.

We cannot tell you what words to use in your court papers.

We cannot talk to the judge for you or let you talk to the judge outside of a court proceeding.

We cannot tell you what to say in court.

We cannot provide you with legal advice.

We cannot tell you what you should do next in your case.

We cannot compute deadlines in your case.

Since clerk's office staff may not know the answers to all of your questions about court rules, procedures, and practices, and because we do not want to give you incorrect information, we have been instructed not to answer questions if we do not know the correct answers or if the information is not publicly available. For additional information, please contact a lawyer or your local law library, or visit the court's website at www.uscfc.uscourts.gov.

Section 4

Other Information

Certificate of Service Rule

No Certificate of Service is necessary for pro se filings.

Receiving Service by E-mail

If you file an E-Notification Consent Form, you agree to waive service and notice of filings by first class U.S. mail, and consent to having your e-mail address entered into the court's electronic filing system (see A11).

Change of Address

If your address changes while you have a case before the court, you must PROMPTLY file and serve a written notice of the change of address. If you do not notify the court and opposing counsel with a written notice, service of future filings will be made to your old address and may prevent you from receiving the documents, possibly causing you to miss filing deadlines. Your case may be dismissed if you fail to respond to court orders or meet deadlines for required filings. A sample of this form can be found in the appendix of this guide (see A12).

Format of Case-Opening Documents

All documents sent to the court should bear the court's name, correct docket number, and the name of the presiding judge to whom your case is assigned. The case number and judge assignment will be provided to you by the court once your complaint has been filed. Your name, address, and telephone number are also required on all pleadings and papers.

If filed in paper, all documents must be on standard 8½-by-11-inch white paper and comply with the format requirements of Rule 5.5. Submissions that do not conform to the court's rules, e.g., books, laminated documents, personal items, or unbound papers, as well as excessively voluminous documents, will be forwarded to an assigned judge for acceptance or rejection.

Protecting Personal Information

If you are filing a document that contains personal identifiers such as your social security number, it is VERY important that you either redact (black out) the specific information or clearly indicate that your document should be filed under seal. It is the sole responsibility of the filing party to protect personal information included in a filing; the clerk's office will not review filings to ensure that information has been adequately protected. See Rule 5.2\(a\) and \(h\).

Filing Documents Once Your Case is Opened

Once your case has been assigned to a judge, you may file documents in your case in paper form or by e-mail. If you file in paper form, you must file one original of all filings. If you would like the court to return to you a date stamped copy of any document, you must provide an additional copy of the document and a self-addressed, stamped envelope when you submit the document to the court.

To file by e-mail, send your document(s) in PDF format (see Appendix E, ¶ 9 for formatting) to ProSe_case_filings@cfc.uscourts.gov. Only the contents of the attached PDF file will be considered part of the submission and processed by the clerk. Any content in the body of the e-mail will not be reviewed by the clerk or considered for inclusion in the case record.

Notice of Appeal

If you wish to appeal a judge's final decision, you must submit a notice of appeal, which can be found in the appendix of this guide (see A13). The filing of the notice begins the appeal process and your case will be sent to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. Once your case is appealed, all future filings should be sent to the appellate court. If you did not receive a waiver for the initial filing fee, you will also need to provide a check made out to: Clerk, U.S. Court of Federal Claims (see page 11 for appropriate fee).

Operation of the Clerk's Office

- General Information:
 - The clerk's office is open for business between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday (except federal holidays). You may contact the clerk's office by telephone at (202) 357-6406 during normal business hours.
- Court's Address:
 - The United States Court of Federal Claims clerk's office is located in Room 103 of the Howard T. Markey National Courts Building, 717 Madison Place, NW Washington, DC 20439.

Where to Obtain our Local Rules

The United States Court of Federal Claims Rules can be obtained by calling the clerk's office at (202) 357-6406, visiting the court's website www.cofc.uscourts.gov, or by clicking on the following link: U.S. Court of Federal Claims Current Rules.

Section 6

Glossary of Terms

Affidavit: A sworn, written statement made under oath, affirming that all information is true.

Amendment: A formal revision made to a legal document.

Answer: A formal written statement made by the defendant which answers each allegation contained in the complaint and sets forth the defendant's defenses and counterclaims.

Clerk of Court: An officer appointed by the court to oversee the court's administration. The Clerk of Court has appointed deputy clerks who are available to provide case specific information.

Complaint: A written statement filed by the plaintiff that opens a case, identifies the plaintiff's claims, and states what relief the plaintiff is seeking.

Cross-motion: A motion in general is a request to the court to issue an order. A cross-motion is a request to the court to deny the first motion and instead grant an opposing one.

Defendant: The party against whom the complaint is made. In the U.S. Court of Federal Claims, the defendant is always the United States.

Dismissal: When a judge dismisses a case, the judge essentially ends the case without a trial. If the dismissal is "with prejudice," the plaintiff cannot refile it. If the dismissal is "without prejudice," the plaintiff may be able to refile or reopen the case with modifications.

Docket: The summary of activity in a certain case containing a list of the parties, their attorneys, and all filings.

In Forma Pauperis: Permission given by the court for an individual to file a case without prepayment of the required court fees because the person is unable to pay them. Often abbreviated as IFP.

Judgment: The final action by the court that is entered on the docket. The judgment officially closes the case.

Jurisdiction: The legal authority of a court to hear and decide a case.

Motion: A formal request to the court to issue an order. For example, a party may file a motion asking the court to extend the time for filing a response. The motion must include reasons for the request.

Notice of Appeal: A document filed that informs the court that a judgment or order is being appealed to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. The filing of a notice of appeal begins the appeal process and must be accompanied by a certificate of service.

Notice of Appearance: A document filed by an attorney at the U.S. Department of Justice identifying who will be representing the United States in a case. Once an appearance is filed, pro se litigants must serve all future filings on the attorney listed on the notice of appearance.

Opinion: A written decision of a judge, setting forth the reasons for the decision and the facts and law on which the decision is based.

Plaintiff: The person who files the complaint in a civil lawsuit.

Pro Se: A term that refers to an individual who presents their own case without an attorney.

Statute of Limitations: A law that sets a time period within which a complaint must be filed.

Stay: A court order that temporarily suspends court proceedings or the effect of a judgment.

Summary Judgment Motion: A motion requesting the court to rely on facts that are not in dispute to rule in one party's favor without a trial.

Transcript: A written record of everything that was said during a court proceeding, such as a hearing or trial. The transcript is prepared by a court reporter and filed on the case docket.

Prisoner Authorization

By signing below, I acknowledge that:

1. because I filed this action as a prisoner,⁷ I am required by statute (28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(1)) to pay the full filing fees for this case, even if I am granted the right to proceed in forma pauperis (IFP), that is, without prepayment of fees;
2. if I am granted IFP status, the $350 filing fee will be deducted from my prison account, even if my case is dismissed or I voluntarily withdraw it.

I authorize the agency holding me in custody to calculate the amounts specified by 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b), deduct those amounts from my prison trust fund, and disburse those amounts to the court.

This authorization applies to any agency into whose custody I may be transferred and to any other court to which my case may be transferred.
